Welcome to the IIC Program! We are very pleased to welcome you for the 2016-2017 academic year to this unique interdisciplinary program that combines coursework in international & intercultural communication with international studies.

This program is a student-based program that has evolved throughout the years in collaboration with faculty, staff, students and administrators. We offer small courses and close connections with faculty through advising and in your classes, and also with other IIC students through our mentor program.

This handbook is designed to provide information about IIC policies and procedures, class schedules, and contact information, but is best used in collaboration with your advisor and the IIC director. Please read it carefully and also check it throughout your program because you will need to create and update a program statement or course plan and likewise toward the end of the program, follow specific procedures for graduation.

Good luck and we’re excited for the year ahead with a great group of new and continuing IIC students!

Sincerely,

Margie

Program Planning Sheet
Summary of Important General Procedures and Policies

Admission Status
Some students are admitted to our master’s program with regular status and they are permitted to begin their studies without any provisions. Other students are admitted with provisional status. There are two types of provisional status. The first provisional status is assigned when applicants have not been able to submit certain required documents, such as a final transcript with proof of a bachelor’s degree. As soon as these students submit the documents to the Office of Graduate Studies, provisional status will be changed to regular status.

Others have GRE scores or undergraduate GPA’s that are below the minimum criteria required for admission to the MA program and are admitted with provisional/probationary status. These students must earn a 3.0 grade point average or above in the first two IIC courses they complete with no grade below a ‘B’ in order to have their status changed to regular. The IIC/MFJS Communications & Recruitment Specialist will submit a change of status form after students complete two classes.

According to University policy, graduate credit earned under the provisional status is limited to 15-quarter hours at the master’s level. Therefore, students must make the necessary efforts to achieve regular status (such as arranging for official transcripts to be sent, etc.) as soon as possible so that their enrollment, financial aid, or graduation plans will not be impaired. Students admitted provisionally should check with the IIC/MFJS Communications Specialist about being moved to regular status as soon as conditions are met.

Financial Aid

Financial Aid Contact Information:
University Hall 255
2197 S. University Blvd
Denver, CO 80208

Office Hours:
8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Mountain Time
Monday - Friday

Ph: 303-871-4020
Fax: 303-871-2341
Email: finaid@du.edu
Web: www.du.edu/financialaid

Cost of Attendance:
The University of Denver has a web page that gives the breakdown of the cost of tuition here: http://www.du.edu/registrar/registration/tuition15-16.html. There is also a helpful “Cost of Attendance” web page: http://www.du.edu/financialaid/graduate/cost/.

Please note that the Cost of Attendance for IIC students is based on the Korbel formula of taking three classes per quarter (12-15 credits), although many IIC students take just two classes per quarter (8-9 credits), which is the formula used in the Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences Division. IIC students are also eligible for a 12-credit flat rate, which means if they take 12 -18 credits they only pay for 12.

Student Responsibility
It is very important that students research the cost of attendance along with any resources available to assist with financial aid. Students will receive a letter from the Office of Financial Aid that explains all of the financial aid available from DU. Please read this letter carefully and double check the information. If the letter does not include a scholarship, grant, or loan received, it may be that the information entered the system after the letter was sent. Remember that the most up-to-date information about financial aid awards, and the options to accept, decline, or reduce offered aid, are available via PioneerWeb (PioneerWeb.du.edu).

New IIC students are strongly encouraged to meet with a DU graduate financial aid advisor to accurately understand the expected total cost of DU tuition and other expenses.

Federal Financial Aid Requirements

Domestic Students
New students who wish to obtain federal financial aid must file a FAFSA (Free Application for Student Aid) by February 15. The deadline for continuing students is March 15. Please consult with the DU Office of Financial Aid for more WORK STUDY. All federal loan and work study awards are granted through the Office of Financial Aid. Once students receive a work study award, they can apply to work study positions available on and off campus. The IIC Program has several work study positions available related to research, communications, and the internship program, which are generally advertised during the spring for the following year starting in Fall Quarter. Students who have received a work study award will have a link on the “Student” tab of PioneerWeb where they can review and apply for work study positions.

State and federal requirements for work study are as follows:

- Maximum amount of award: $5,000
- Must be U.S. citizen or permanent resident
- Must be enrolled full-time (8 or more credits)
- Awarded to students with greatest need (based on the FAFSA)

Requirements for Receiving Departmental Financial Aid

Domestic & International Students

Each year the IIC Program is able to award a limited number of scholarship tuition hours to new and continuing students for further financial assistance. These IIC Graduate Dean’s Scholarships are merit-based and are awarded to candidates with strong academic promise. IIC Graduate Dean’s Scholarships can be awarded to domestic and international students. The IIC program only awards up to a maximum of half tuition per quarter.

If new students want to be considered for an IIC Graduate Dean’s Scholarship, they can check the appropriate box in the online application when they apply to the IIC Program. Continuing students who want to renew their IIC Graduate Dean’s Scholarships will be asked to fill out a one-page form sometime in Winter Quarter.

Paul D. Coverdell Peace Corps Fellowship Aid

Paul D. Coverdell Peace Corps Fellowship Financial Aid

Returned Peace Corps Volunteers can apply for the IIC Paul D. Coverdell Peace Corps Fellowship. The Fellows program works with the University of Denver in offering financial assistance to returned Peace Corps Volunteers pursuing graduate studies. As a PC Fellow, students can earn a Master of Arts in International and Intercultural Communication at a reduced cost. We provide this by awarding 10 hours of academic credit for students’ already-completed Peace Corps experience. PC Fellows save over $12,500 through this eligibility for a 50-credit hour program as opposed to the usual 60-credit hour program.

The IIC Program also reserves two, 12-credit annual tuition scholarship awards for students in the Peace Corps Fellows program. In competition with other admitted and continuing IIC students, Fellows who do not receive the IIC-PCF awards are eligible for other partial tuition scholarships and work-study positions.

Please see the previous section, Requirements for Receiving Departmental Financial Aid” for more information.

Additional Financial Aid Resources

Regardless of whether a student received federal and/or departmental financial aid, anyone can research and apply for private scholarships or grant opportunities. A list of additional financial aid resources is available on the Financial Aid website. The Office of Financial aid is also available to offer assistance.

Advising

When students are admitted to the IIC program, they will be assigned a general faculty advisor in Media, Film & Journalism Studies for curriculum questions, developing a program plan, and other general questions. For specific questions about coursework in INTS, students may contact Professor Tom Rowe (the IIC Faculty Liaison in Korbel) at: Tom.rowe@du.edu.

Students who plan to write a thesis or an SRP should start planning their project in spring quarter of their first year and select a thesis advisor with expertise related to their thesis topic at the same time (see “Thesis” section). They should notify the IIC director of their choice of thesis advisor.

Students should meet with their IIC advisor during their first quarter of enrollment to create a program plan. By the end of their second quarter, students should submit a draft of their Program Statement. If any changes are made, a copy of the revised program statement must be submitted to the student’s advisor, the IIC Director (if different from advisor), and the IIC/MFJS Communications Specialist (for their file). Students may change their plans as necessary in consultation with their advisor. Also, students are encouraged to check with their advisor every quarter before registering if there are any changes in their program, or to address any other questions or concerns.

A final version of the Program Statement is required in order to apply for advancement to candidacy and graduation. The Program Statement must be signed by the IIC Director and the IIC Faculty Liaison at the Korbek School, Prof. Tom Rowe. It should then be submitted to the IIC Communications Specialist early in the quarter BEFORE the student wishes to graduate. The IIC Communications Specialist will use the student’s Program Statement to submit an advancement to candidacy form and graduation checklist to the Office of Graduate Studies.

Transfer of Credit

When students begin their MA program, they can petition to transfer credits from another institution. The grade for any possible transfer courses must be ‘B’ or higher. Any transfer courses must have been at the graduate level and directly related to IIC, and they should not have been counted toward any other completed degree. A petition must be filed with the IIC/MFJS Communications Specialist within the first quarter of enrollment, which includes a memo to the IIC Director, and an unofficial copy of the student’s transcript that lists the course credits and final grade. Once it is approved, the transfer will be submitted for addition to the student’s record.

Students must check with the Registrar’s Office soon after completion of the petition to be sure that accepted credits have been added to their record. The maximum number of credits that may be transferred is 25. If credits were earned as semester credits, the original credit number is multiplied by 1.5 to determine the equivalent number of quarter credits (for example, a 3-credit semester course will transfer in as 4.5 credits). Courses taken for Pass/Fail or S/U may not be transferred. Students should check the University of Denver Graduate Policy Manual for specific University requirements on transfer of credit.

Students who plan to participate in for-credit exchange programs offered by institutions/organizations outside DU should consult, beforehand, with the IIC Director regarding transfer of credit toward the MA degree.

Registration Procedures

Students registering for the first time will receive their registration instructions from the Office of Graduate Studies one to two months before classes start. Registration for new students for Fall Quarter takes place in the summer (July 1st), so they will need to consult with their faculty advisor before that time (via email or in person). A letter will be sent out to all new IIC students in late May that identifies each student’s advisor and contact information.

Students must keep the Office of Graduate Studies and the IIC Communications Specialist updated on current emails, phone numbers, and mailing addresses. Contact information may be edited on PioneerWeb. Please also email and changes to the IIC Communications Specialist at iic@du.edu.

In all subsequent quarters, registration instructions will be available online at http://www.du.edu/registrar/registration/howtoregister.html. Every Fall Quarter, students should meet with their faculty advisor and draw up a course plan (see Advising section, page 5). All registration is done online and is easily accessible through https://myweb.du.edu.

NOTE: Be sure to consult the registration and billing calendar on the Registrar’s website at http://www.du.edu/registrar/calendar/index.html to avoid late registration fees. Students may drop and add courses during the first week of classes with no penalty.
Continuous Enrollment Policy for Graduate Students
Students who have completed all coursework and are working on a thesis or an SRP are required to keep their student status active by enrolling in Continuous Enrollment (CE). Students working on internships after the completion of all coursework are not eligible for CE. All graduate degree-seeking students must be in active status and continuously enrolled Fall through Spring terms, unless they plan to graduate in Fall or Winter. To enroll in CE, students must fill out the Continuous Enrollment Approval form which must be submitted to the Office of Graduate Studies five business days prior to the first day of the Fall quarter (or the quarter in which the student begins CE). The online form is available on the website of the Office of Graduate Studies.

Students submit the completed form, with a signature of their advisor, to the Office of Graduate Studies in the Mary Reed Building, Room 5. Upon submission and approval of the CE form, the student will receive an email with the approval and then must register for CE via WebCentral. Students enrolled in CE pay a fee, but are not charged tuition.

To avoid late fees, registration must occur within the appropriate registration drop/add periods for the quarter. To be eligible for financial aid, students must be registered by the end of the 100% refund period. Complete policy and procedures regarding continuous enrollment can be found on the Registrar’s website. Students can also check the Graduate Policies and Procedures Manual.

Student Mentors for New Students
New students are assigned a student mentor from the pool of continuing IIC students. Mentors can help new students become familiar with the IIC program, campus life, and the greater Denver area (if students are new to the area). Mentor assignments are confirmed during the IIC Orientation and mutual contact information will be provided.

Orientation
Each Fall Quarter the IIC Program presents an orientation for new and returning students. All students are required to attend. The orientation is usually held on the last Saturday afternoon and evening before classes start at DU. In addition to receiving information about the IIC Program, students have the opportunity to get to know each other and meet faculty and staff members. Orientation concludes with a complementary buffet dinner. The IIC Communications Specialist will send “save the date” information well ahead of the event.

Program Requirements
Summary of General Degree Requirements
- Formal acceptance as regular status student
- Program Statement by beginning of third quarter (update as necessary)
- Core curriculum (2 foundational courses in IIC, 4 courses in Media, Film, & Journalism Studies and 4 courses in International Studies)
- Research Methods course (included in the 4 required courses in either MFJS or INTS, unless taken in another department/school)
- MFJS 4000: Assessment (0 credits). To be taken last quarter before graduation.
- 60 hours of graduate credit (4000-level graduate level courses will count towards the degree; limit of one 3000-level course)
- 3.0 minimum GPA
- Two-year college level proficiency in one language other than English (or the student’s native language)
- Thesis, SRP, or internship (5 credits)
- Completion in 5 years
- Advancement to candidacy
- Graduation: Students are responsible for monitoring their own progress towards graduation; this includes deadlines for advancement to candidacy, foreign language requirements, final program statement approval, and deadline for graduation. Each student must contact the IIC office at least ONE quarter (and early in that quarter) BEFORE they wish to graduate and submit their final Program Statement, signed by their IIC faculty advisor or IIC Director and Prof. Tom Rowe, IIC Liaison from JKSIS. Students who fail to submit this document, will not be able to graduate in the intended quarter.

* The research methods course counts as one of the 4 required courses in MFJS or Korbel, unless taken outside either unit
 Internship must be completed with a high-need community in the U.S.

Required Foundational Coursework

Two (2) foundational courses are required for all IIC students: MFJS 4654: Intercultural Communication (offered in fall quarter) and MFJS 4650: Global Media & Communication (offered in winter quarter). Students are required to be take both of these classes during their first year.

Required:

MFJS 4654: INTERCULTURAL COMMUNICATION

Theories of culture, communication and intercultural communication and the role of power & privilege.

Also includes exploration of cultural identity and the role of power and privilege in the processes of construction and articulation of culture and cultural identity in interpersonal and mediated contexts, and its relationship to race, ethnicity, gender, sexuality and class. Also addressed are the intersections of communication & culture in conflict and conflict resolution.

MFJS 4650: GLOBAL MEDIA AND COMMUNICATION

Major theories concerning international communication flows, the impact of globalization and global media, issues of new communication technologies, the rhetoric and media framing of global politics and culture; international marketing and public relations; and national and cultural sovereignty issues related to communication.

Required Media, Film & Journalism Studies Coursework

In addition to the two foundational courses, students must take four (4) courses (20 credits) in the Department of Media, Film & Journalism Studies. Any transfer credits from other universities must be approved by the IIC Director in order to count toward the four (4) required MFJS courses.

Note: 3000-Level Courses. A student is allowed to take only one 3000-level course to count for credit towards the 60 hours needed to complete the IIC degree. The course must be cross listed as graduate-undergraduate (check course descriptions in the Course Catalog). Graduate students are expected to complete an additional paper or project beyond the basic course requirements. Consult with the instructor before enrolling in any 3000-level course.

Note: University College courses do not count toward the IIC degree.

Required Josef Korbel School of International Studies Coursework

Four (4) courses (totaling at least 20 credit hours) are required for completion of the degree.

Depending on substantive interests, a student selects one of the following options:

Traditional MA Option

Required:

Students complete two (2) classes in one specialization plus two (2) classes in a second specialization OR students complete one (1) core curriculum class plus three classes in one specialization.

Core curriculum classes include, but are not limited to: INTS 4900 International Politics, INTS 4501 Comparative Politics in the 21st Century, INTS 4304 International Economics, and INTS 4820/4821/4822 Contemporary Political Thought.

Specialization areas include: Human Rights; Development; Global Political Economy; Policy Analysis; International Technology Analysis & Management; Conflict Resolution; Global Environment; International Security; Global Finance, Trade, and Economic Integration; Global Health; and Humanitarian Aid.

Professional MA Option

Required:

Students may take four courses in one of the designated Program Training Core curricula in one of the professional MA programs in INTS: International Administration; International Public Policy; Development; Global Finance, Trade & Economic Integration; International Health; and Humanitarian Aid.

Details on these options are available from JKSIS and are included in the JKSIS MA Handbook. Students choosing this option to fulfill their INTS requirements should work with Prof. Tom Rowe, the IIC advisor for JKSIS, to develop a written plan and submit a signed copy of the plan to the IIC Director.

We recognize that there will be cases where students have special needs and interests and may prefer to create a custom-designed combination of courses. Modifications may be made in these requirements after consultation with Prof. Tom Rowe and the IIC Director. A signed copy of the modified agreement should be given to the IIC Director for the student's file.

INTS CERTIFICATES

IIC students may take coursework to earn a certificate in Global Health Affairs. This certificate can be combined with the IIC program (taking the 4 required INTS courses in this area plus electives), or in some cases completed as a stand-alone certificate. Refer to the JKSIS website for details.
Note: 3000-Level Courses. A student is allowed to take only one 3000-level course to count for credit towards the 60 hours needed to complete the IIC degree. The course must be cross listed as graduate-undergraduate (check course descriptions in the Course Catalog). Graduate students are expected to complete an additional paper or project beyond the basic course requirements. Consult with the instructor before enrolling in any 3000-level course.

Note: University College courses do not count toward the IIC degree.

Research Methods

Students are required to take one of the following research methods courses. The research methods course counts as one of the 4 required courses in MFJS or JKSIS, unless taken outside either unit.

The choice will depend upon the type of research method(s) most commonly used in the student’s area of specialization. Prior approval from the student’s advisor is needed for any research methods course not included in the list below. Note that not all courses on this list are offered every year.

- MFJS 4560 Methods in Communication Research (4 cr.)
- INTS 4057 Statistics for International Affairs*
- INTS 4332 Data Analysis for Development (5 cr.)*
- INTS 4333 International Project Analysis (5 cr.)
- INTS 4423 Health Data for Decision-Making
- INTS 4500 Social Science Methods
- INTS 4575 Systems Thinking for the Social Scientist (5 cr.)
- INTS 4576 Seminar in Community-Based Research (5 cr.)
- INTS 4632 Qualitative Research Methodologies: Working with the Denver Immigrant and Refugee Communities (5 cr.)
- INTS 4644 Human Rights Research Methods (5 cr.)
- INTS 4966 Applied Field Methods (5 cr.)

*Check prerequisites for these courses

Students are encouraged to take a research methods course early in their program, once they have identified their likely areas of specialization, in order to select a methods course that fits with their potential career paths.

Other research methods courses may also be used toward the requirement with permission of advisor; however, not all courses considered acceptable in other departments will fulfill the requirement for the IIC program. Please contact an advisor with questions and to get approval for research methods courses not listed here.

Assessment

This zero credit hour course is designed to enable graduate students enrolled in the Department of Media, Film and Journalism Studies’ M.A. in Media and Public Communication and the M.A. in International and Intercultural Communication degrees to complete an assessment file prior to their graduation. The requirement does not take place in conjunction with a single quarter but is rather completed throughout the student’s academic career according to the required coursework within both the M.A. in IIC and M.A. in MEPC (Media and Globalization or Strategic Communication concentration).

Graduate Course Offerings

How to find course offerings (check type font)

The Registrar’s website has the latest course offerings, searchable by academic quarter. To find MFJS, INTS, or other departmental courses:

1. Go to: www.du.edu/registrar
2. Click on “Courses and Schedules on the left hand side
3. Select “Schedule of Classes”
4. On the next page, select the term
5. On the next page select the following:
   a. Subject: Media, Film & Journalism Studies, International Studies or other department
   b. Course Level: Graduate

You can also search courses from within MyWeb:

1. Log into MyWeb using DU ID and password
2. On the left hand side of the page, look under “General Course Information”
3. Select “Class Schedule” - this will bring up a new window with the Dynamic Schedule
4. Search by Term: Fall Quarter, Winter Quarter or Spring Quarter
5. Press “Submit” Student Resources
6. Subject: Enter Media, Film & Journalism Studies, International Studies or another subject area
7. Select course level: Graduate
8. Select “Full Term”

Global & Multicultural Strategic Communication & Nonprofit Track
The following requirements are in addition to the standard IIC degree requirements as listed on page 7.

Media, Film & Journalism Studies Courses
Choose 4 courses from the following list for a total of 16 credits. Note that many of these classes are not offered every year. Consult with your advisor with any scheduling questions.

- MFJS 4050: Foundations of Strategic Communication
- MFJS 4060: Strategic Messaging
- MFJS 4070: Seminar in Strategic Communication
- MFJS 4080: Global and Multicultural Campaigns
- MFJS 4320: Brands and Identities
- MFJS 4165 Global and Development Health Communication
- MFJS 4175 Multicultural Health Communication
- MFJS 4065 Public Diplomacy and Nation Branding

Research Methods
Choose one course from the following list for a total of 4-5 credits. (Other methods courses in INTS or another department may be taken with permission from an advisor).

- MFJS 4560: Methods in Communication Research
- INTS 4318: Applied Research in International Economics
- INTS 4633: International Project Analysis
- INTS 4615: Development Project Evaluation
- INTS 4633: International Project Evaluation

Josef Korbel School of International Studies Courses
Choose 4 courses from the following list for a total of 20 credits. Please note: Other JKSIS courses (INTS) may be considered for inclusion.

- INTS 4210: Multinational Corporations
- INTS 4333: International Project Analysis
- INTS 4363: Discrimination, Minorities and Rights of Indigenous Peoples
- INTS 4342: Project Management
- INTS 4391: Financial Management and Fundraising in Nonprofits
- INTS 4394: Nonprofit Management
- INTS 4497: International Campaign & Human Rights Management
- INTS 4591: Advanced Fundraising Workshop
- INTS 4615: Development Project Evaluation
- INTS 4633: International Project Evaluation

Electives
Students should select 8 credits worth of electives. See page 7 for remaining requirements.

Degree total: 60 credits

Specializations
One of the advantages of the IIC program is the flexibility of the curriculum. While many students have expressed their appreciation for such a broad selection of classes, they have also asked for a guide to which classes might be best suited to their interests.

The following is a list of areas of specialization compiled by IIC professors from which students may choose their own specialization. The courses listed under each area are suggestions only, and are not complete listings; students are not required to enroll in them (unless otherwise noted). They are simply intended to help students choose classes that will best serve their interests and goals. It is also possible to construct individualized areas of specialization.
however, these must be approved by an IIC advisor and the IIC Faculty Liaison from Korbel.

Please be aware that many classes are offered only once during the academic year and that schedules are subject to change. Students are advised to check the dynamic online course catalog (see the Registrar’s website at: http://www.du.edu/registrar/) frequently and contact relevant professors and faculty if unsure about a class. Entrance into certain courses may be especially competitive; for these reasons it is wise to plan ahead and select two or three backup courses.

Sample Areas of Specialization
- Global Health Communication
- Media, Globalization and Culture
- Global Environment
- Human Rights
- Global & Multicultural Strategic Communication (Non-Profit or Corporate)
- International Administration
- International Politics
- Media Practices & Production

Note: Students may take just one 3000-level course to count toward their degree and this course must be listed as appropriate for both upper level undergraduate and graduate students (see Course Catalog at: http://www.du.edu/registrar/course/index.html).

University College courses do not count toward the IIC degree.

Foreign Language Proficiency Requirement
By the time a student graduates with the MA degree, they must prove proficiency equivalent to approximately two years of college-level course work in a language other than English, or their native language. Students should submit a memo with written evidence of proficiency to the IIC Director no later than the beginning of the quarter before graduation. International students who are proficient in English, as well as their primary language are exempt from this requirement. Students are encouraged to complete this tool requirement as soon as possible in their IIC Program.

Ways to prove proficiency include:

1. Course work beyond the two-year level (earned “B” or better) within the past three years of initial enrollment in the IIC program; (Note: The school must offer the course according to formal levels or years: for example, when the student finishes a course, the student will be at or beyond the two-year level. If the course work was performed at a non-accredited institution (so the courses are not offered by levels), the student must take the proficiency test. Most university courses are offered according to year or level, where as many short-term intensive “submersion” programs or classes are not).

2. Worked or lived in another culture requiring proficiency at or beyond the two-year level for six months or more within the past three years (including international students whose first language is not English); primary language used by the student in the other culture was not English.

3. Taking a foreign language course (see (1) above on type of course) for which completion (and earning a “B” or better) brings the student up to the two-year proficiency level within three years of enrolling in the IIC program or during the program. The classes will not count toward the degree.

4. Taking a foreign language course beyond the two-year level and earning a “B” or better. Students may take 3000-level courses to bring them beyond the two-year proficiency requirement; however the classes will not count as credits toward their degree.

5. Taking and passing the graduate foreign language proficiency exam through the Center for World Languages and Cultures (CWLC). Students must take the language proficiency exam AT LEAST two quarters prior to their anticipated graduation date. Please take the exam as early in the program as possible! Students should contact the Center at cwlc@du.edu or 303.871.4601, to register for the exam, for a fee of $50 (cash or a check only). Early registration is appreciated!

The CWLC offers three testing dates during the fall, winter and spring quarters. Please note that no tests are offered during academic breaks or during summer. Please check for testing dates on the CWLC website. Registration for fall dates will open late August. The CWLC also offers advising, classes and tutors for specific languages.

Program Statement
Students are asked to write a program statement outlining their academic goals as related to the IIC curriculum. The statement should include a list of required, as well as elective courses (both completed and to be taken) as well as foreign language and area of specialization. It can be changed at any time and as often as necessary with the approval of the advisor. An initial written program statement, approved by the student’s advisor, is to be submitted to the advisor and the IIC Director by the second week of the third quarter after initial enrollment. A final program statement must be submitted to both Prof. Tom Rowe, the IIC advisor from Korbel and from the IIC Director early in the quarter before the student wants

Five credit hours of internship (40 hours per credit X 5 = 200 hours of work) are required for students who choose the internship option. Students may elect to do one or more internships (adding up to a total of 5 credits) relating to their program focus, with media/communications agencies, non-profit or NGOs, corporations, or government, in the Denver area, or elsewhere in the US or abroad. Internships may be taken for 1 to 5 credits during any one term.

All internships will be administered and supervised by Prof. Erika Polson, the Director of Internships for the IIC Program in the Dept. of Media, Film and Journalism Studies (epolson@du.edu). Students must meet with the Dr. Polson to obtain approval, forms, and instructions for internship registration (MFJS 4980: Internship). Note: internships must be secured or be in the process of securing in the quarter before graduation.

NOTE: Peace Corps Fellows have specific obligations required by the Peace Corps. All returning Peace Corps Fellows receiving the 10-credit course discount MUST do a 5-credit internship serving a high needs community in the United States. This is based on the third goal of the Peace Corps: “to promote a better understanding of other peoples on the part of Americans.” DU and the IIC Program are not allowed to waive this requirement. PC Fellows students who wish to do another internship that does not fit this criteria, may be able to do it as an independent study, although this option requires finding a professor to supervise the study and may require additional coursework. If an IIC/PC Fellow wishes to avoid the Peace Corps’ restrictions s/he may forgo the PC Fellowship and take the additional 10 credits for the regular IIC program.

Frequently Asked Questions

How do students find an internship?

Students have several resources at their disposal. They can meet with the Internship Director in the MFJS department, or seek out internship listings on the MFJS website, at the DU Career Center, and at the Center for Career and Professional Development in the Joseph Korbel School of International Studies. (Please note regardless of where IIC students locate an internship, they must sign up for internship credits through the Media, Film & Journalism department.) The MFJS department updates the “featured opportunities” on the website frequently.

There are also several Web sites that allow students to search for openings (i.e. monster.com; internships.com; headhunter.net). Students should get a job description of the internship to ensure that it is offering graduate-level work. The internship director guides students in choosing an appropriate project, informs students of expectations, and monitors student progress. Once students have completed their internship, they and their supervisors will be asked to complete a form evaluating the quality of work and the overall experience.

When is the best time to look for and complete an internship?

It is recommended that students wait until they have completed at least half of the 60 credits required for the completion of the degree. Having taken some of the IIC coursework before the commencement of the internship, students have an opportunity to apply what they have learned in the classroom. Students should start looking for internships early (e.g., early in winter quarter for summer internships), because some internships have early deadlines or require students to undergo security checks.

How many hours per week are students expected to work?

The number of hours students will work per week varies depending on the number of credits they register for the internship. Generally, 40 hours of work is equal to 1 credit. For example, if a student registers five (5) internship credits, s/he must work 200 hours (equal to 20 hours each week during a 10-week term). Students may split the 5 credits between two internships, or split the 5 credits across quarters if they want to continue working at an internship position beyond the initial term, BUT must re-register each quarter and work the total number of hours that corresponds to the number of credits registered in a quarter.
Are internships paid?
Most internships are unpaid; however, there are a number of paid positions. To earn supplemental income, some students hold part-time jobs while completing their internships. Depending on the amount of hours, it is also possible to find external funding sources that award scholarship money for volunteerism. For example, the UCAN Serve Program is an AmeriCorps initiative that rewards volunteers for their time. Also, the Peterson Scholarship (available through the Korbel School of International Studies) provides some travel assistance for students who do internships abroad (contact the Korbel office of Student Affairs for more information).

How many total credit hours are students allowed to take for an internship and can students complete more than one internship?
In the IIC program students must register for 5 hours of internship credit. They may complete one or more internships as long as the total is 5 credits. Students have the option of completing an internship or a thesis, although some do both. If a student chooses the internship option, they MUST complete a minimum of 5 credit hours.

For more information on internships, contact Erika Polson, the MFJS internship director at 303.871.3831 (erika.polson@du.edu); or Mira Morton Luna, the IIC coordinator for the Korbel Career & Professional Development Center at 303.871.2552 (mmortonl@du.edu); or the DU Career Center. The MFJS website also has a helpful internships page.

Study Abroad
Study Abroad for Academic Credit
Students may take courses abroad, including summer/interterm programs and quarter/semester programs. These programs may be offered or sponsored by the University of Denver, other U.S. universities or organizations, or involve direct enrollment in a university abroad. If students are planning to participate in a study abroad program for credit, it must be graduate-level coursework related to the IIC Program. They will need to consult with the DU Office of International Education and the IIC Director or advisor. If students participate in a program sponsored by the Office of Special Programs or a DU department, they should coordinate with the IIC office.

Graduate Financial Aid
The cost of DU-sponsored programs varies, but typically includes DU tuition plus travel-related costs. In some cases, financial aid is available to help with the cost of international programs or courses. Graduate students must be registered for at least half-time enrollment to be eligible for these financial aid awards. They should be registered at DU based on the credits pre-approved by the department. In turn, financial aid awards will be based on the registration credit. Students will not receive financial aid for a non-credit program or language study abroad. Summer financial aid is determined separately from the academic year. Students are encouraged to speak directly with the Financial Aid Office for details on their specific aid package.

DU Summer/Interterm Programs
The Office of International Education coordinates several International Service Learning Programs available to graduate students. Interterm courses are offered through the Office of Special Programs.

Many academic units offer their own international courses, which vary by term. For example, the Graduate School of Social Work offers several international courses for its students including Global Relations and Poverty in Mexico, and Social Work from a Chinese Perspective. The Daniels College of Business offers global options for the MBA Enterprise Solutions course, and coordinates other international travel courses in fields such as Management and Real Estate/Construction Management.

Unaffiliated Programs
Students may also opt to participate in an unaffiliated program, which may be a program sponsored by another U.S. university, a study abroad program provider, or direct enrollment in a university abroad as a visiting student. It is important to examine the level of courses offered when searching for programs, as many study abroad programs only offer undergraduate credit. There are many opportunities for graduate students to enroll directly in a university abroad, provided they are proficient in the language of instruction. Students who participate in an unaffiliated program, will pay the program cost directly to the program sponsor/university. If participating in a credit-bear ing program, they will be registered at DU in a study abroad placeholder course, and will pay a $50 Study Abroad Administrative fee plus the DU Technology fee. Please note that in order to be registered in the placeholder course, students must take graduate level coursework and receive approval from their department to transfer the credit towards their DU degree requirements.

Students may use the resources provided by the Office of Internationalization to browse opportunities. If students have a particular destination in mind and are interested in direct enrollment options, they can also search for universities in that country and go directly to their websites. Professors and advisors may be useful in identifying institutions abroad that are known for their expertise related to the IIC Program.

Required International Experience, No Credit
This category includes internships, thesis or dissertation research, and language study to fulfill language proficiency requirements. No financial aid is available for this type of program because students will not receive academic credit. They will not be registered at the University of Denver, but if these experiences fulfill requirements of the degree program students will be covered by the University of Denver’s International SOS policy. International experiences for which students are receiving DU funding (i.e. Internationalization grants or departmental funding) may also be eligible for International SOS coverage. Students should check with the DU Study Abroad office for further details.

Optional International Experience, No Credit
This category includes independent travel, volunteer programs, work abroad, or language study not required by a particular program. Students who are planning on this option are not required to complete any paperwork or register with the Office of International Education. These students are traveling abroad on their own accord and taking on the risks and responsibilities accordingly. DU takes on no responsibility for this type of travel.

Thesis or SRP
Students may opt to do a thesis or SRP (see below for details) for a total of 5 credits maximum. Both options require registration for MFJS 4995 for a maximum of 5 credits.

To begin work on the thesis, the student must first choose an area of research interest and develop a research question that will guide the thesis research. At that time, the student should also choose a thesis/SRP advisor with expertise in the student’s interest area. The advisor will help the student to focus the research question and may suggest additional readings or coursework that will help the student develop the thesis project.

Thesis Process
The student should meet at least twice with the thesis advisor to finalize a research question and outline the entire project. The student should then begin work on a preliminary proposal to be reviewed by the IIC Graduate Committee, which should include a brief summary of the following: research problem or question, theoretical framework, preliminary literature review, and methods. The committee will review the proposal and the student’s course record (including grades), consult with the student’s advisor and instructors of courses related to the thesis, and make a recommendation to the student on doing a thesis. If the committee recommends against the student doing a thesis, the student may opt to do an internship or other course work. A student has the option to revise and resubmit the preliminary thesis proposal one time.
Once the preliminary proposal has been approved by the IIC Graduate Committee, the student and advisor will need to select a thesis committee, which includes the advisor and a minimum of two other committee members (at least one Media, Film & Journalism Studies, and one from Korbel; the third may be from either area) who will read the formal research proposal and the final report. These additional members should be contacted and asked if they would be willing to serve on the thesis committee.

Having formed the thesis committee, the student should begin work on a formal thesis proposal. The exact form of this proposal will be outlined by the thesis advisor and will vary according to the thesis topic, the specific problem being studied and the methodology proposed to explore that problem. All proposals should include the following (the order may vary): (1) a general introduction to the thesis topic; (2) an explication of the problem(s) the research will address (i.e., the purpose of the study); (3) a review of the literature related to the stated problem; (4) a clear and succinct statement of the research questions or hypotheses the thesis will address; (5) a discussion of the research methods that will be used to explore the questions or hypotheses; (6) a description of the material or data that will be examined in order to suggest answers to the research questions or to test the hypotheses; and (7) if appropriate, a discussion of the contributions the study will make to the existing discourse on the thesis topic.

The student will need to convene the thesis committee for a proposal meeting following completion of the proposal. The committee members should be presented with a draft of the research proposal two weeks prior to this meeting. At the meeting the committee members will question the student on the project’s theory, design, and research methods to ensure that the project is rigorous and of appropriate scope.

Revisions to the proposal may be required following this meeting, but once the committee has approved the proposal, the student may regard it as a contract. An approved proposal outlines specifically what procedures the student must follow to complete the thesis requirement; no committee member may fault the student for the study’s design when the thesis is complete (providing the student follows the approved plan, such concerns must be addressed at the proposal meeting.

Following approval of the research proposal, the student may then proceed to conduct the research described in the proposal, then report and discuss the results in the final written thesis report. The format of the thesis should follow the guidelines developed by the Office of Graduate Studies exactly.

Formatting Guidelines

See the Thesis and Dissertation Formatting Guidelines document on the Office of Graduate Studies website. The student will defend the thesis research before the committee shortly before completion of the degree. The Office of Graduate Studies must be notified of the defense three weeks prior to the date, using a form available on their website. As with the proposal, the student should deliver copies of the final report to the committee members at least two weeks prior to the defense.

At the thesis defense, the student may be questioned on interpretation of the results, methods used, any additional unanticipated findings, and the implications of the study. Committee members may require revisions of the thesis. Once the final revisions are completed, three copies of the thesis are required; one copy must be filed with the Office of Graduate Studies, following their instructions. Also, the student is required to file one copy with the department and one copy with their master’s thesis advisor.

Electronic Submission of Theses and Dissertations

As of 2008, all theses and dissertations must be submitted electronically to the University of Denver. The electronic submission process eliminates the need to print these documents for final submission and allows students to pay for their submissions online with a credit card.

Following the oral defense and after receiving confirmation from their advisor that their dissertation/thesis is ready for publication, students must officially submit their dissertation/thesis to an online submission site, ETD Administrator. ETD Administrator will guide students through each step, but the steps are also listed in in the “Submitting Your Dissertation/Thesis via ETD Administrator” on this website. After the document has been submitted, ETD Administrator will send an email to the Office of Graduate Studies, which will then review and approve the formatting of the document to ensure that it meets DU’s standards and send confirmation once the submission is complete.

In instances where students would like to receive a hard bound copy of their thesis/dissertation, DU has maintained a relationship with the Denver Bookbinding Company. Students may submit up to six printed copies of the complete document (in separate boxes) for binding to the Office of Graduate Studies. The cost to the student is $15 per copy, with additional charges for documents over two inches thick. After they have been bound, they will be returned to the student’s department for the student to pick up.

Embargos and Restrictions on Accessing Theses and Dissertations

Students should be advised that a thesis or dissertation may be considered to be “previously published” by some publishers if it is put into a searchable repository (e.g., ProQuest). Students should discuss their future publication goals with their advisor regarding their scholarly work.

Students planning to publish from the thesis or dissertation should consider requesting an embargo of their work. An embargo will completely restrict access to the document. The thesis or dissertation will be held in the ProQuest repository with no access until the specified embargo period has expired. For more information on thesis or dissertation rules, embargos, restrictions and regulations, students should meet with their thesis or dissertation advisor.

Substantial Research Paper (SRP)

A Substantial Research Paper is a problem-focused paper designed to engage students in an independent research project that is longer and more in-depth than a class research paper, but less than a thesis project. An SRP does not require a review committee or an oral defense; rather, it will be supervised and graded by a single appointed faculty member.

Students should register for MFJS 4995 for a maximum of 5 credits, allocated in the quarters in which they are actually working on the SRP. It is not permissible to register for credit before work has commenced or after the work has been completed.

To begin work on the SRP, the student must first choose an area of research interest and develop a research question that will guide the research. It may be based on a class research paper that will then be expanded for the SRP. The student should choose an SRP advisor with expertise in the student’s interest area. The advisor will help the student to focus the research question and may suggest additional readings or coursework that will help the student develop the SRP. It is important that the student and faculty advisor establish a reasonable and mutually agreeable timeline for exchanging drafts and comments on the student’s work. The final copy of the SRP should be formatted according to APA, MLA or other guidelines agreed upon with the faculty advisor.

Independent Study

If necessary, independent study credits may be used to conduct individual research or study with a professor on a specific topic. Credits are limited to five (5) in MFJS and/or five (5) in INTS. The Application for Independent Study is available on the MFJS website. Students should be sure to choose the "Independent Study (n991)” option unless they are doing research for a thesis (n995).

Satisfactory Graduate Student Performance

According to University policy, a grade point average (GPA) of ‘B’ (3.0) or better is required for the MA degree. It is the policy of the IIC Program that when a graduate student receives a third grade below a ‘B’, the IIC Graduate Committee will review the student’s progress. A student will normally be terminated from the program if their GPA is below 3.0. However, if evidence is presented suggesting that “special” circumstances account for the poor performance, the IIC Graduate Committee shall have the option of allowing the student to continue in the program with the understanding that the GPA must be raised to a 3.0 at the time of the next grade report or the student will be terminated from the program. The Director will review graduate student performance on a quarterly basis. Students who receive a second grade below a ‘B’ will be notified of the IIC Program’s policies in this area.

Incomplete Grades

According to University policy, an incomplete grade can be given only when, due to circumstances beyond the student’s control, the student is unable to complete the class. The policy also requires that an incomplete grade must be removed by the Wednesday of the fourth week of the next quarter that the student is in residence. It is the policy of the IIC Program that this deadline for removal of incompletes may be extended only with the written permission of the instructor of the course, along with a scheduled date of completion, and a copy of such permission must be submitted to the IIC director.

Failure to remove the incomplete on time or to have the deadline extended will result in a grade being turned in for the student reflecting the grades received on all completed course work averaged with zeros for the incomplete work. Incompletes that extend for one year are automatically converted to an ‘F’ and students must make a special petition to the original instructor to determine if this can be changed. Finally, students with two or more incompletes must receive approval from the IIC director to take an additional incomplete. Requests for additional incompletes will be submitted in writing, with proper rationale, to the IIC director, and must be supported by the course instructor.

To remove an incomplete, the student must complete a Change of Incomplete form obtained online from the DU Registrar’s website. The student must submit the form along with the work required to make up the incomplete to the course instructor.

For students who are near graduation, please refer to the Schedule of Deadlines for removing incompletes. Persons not meeting these deadlines will automatically be delayed one quarter in receiving their degree.

Dual and Flexible Degree Programs

The IIC program is a joint master’s degree, meaning that students earn one degree with coursework from two areas, including communication and international studies. However, the University of Denver offers unique opportunities for graduate students to earn two master level degrees simultaneously (IIC plus one other). Prospective students can explore either the formal dual degree or the flexible dual degree.

Formal Dual Degree

The student must apply, submit the application fee, receive admission to each program separately and turn in the approval form within the first term of attendance, in order to complete a dual degree.

Formal dual degrees are available in several of the graduate divisions, and the curriculum is already established. Please contact the college, school or department for details on available degrees.

Flexible Dual Degree

Students may propose any flexible dual degree that makes sense for their academic and career pursuit. The program can link any two master’s degrees or a master’s degree and a juris doctor degree. Read more information about dual degrees in the Graduate Student Bulletin.

The flexible dual degree program allows for a reduction in hours due to cross counting of courses in electives. A program proposal must preserve the core courses in each program. The reduction of hours in each program is based on the total hours of each degree program.

Typically, students seeking a flexible dual degree are already enrolled in one program when they decide to apply for the second, although they may apply to both simultaneously. Students who stagger their application and enrollment must submit their Flex Dual Degree proposals by no later than the end of the 4th quarter (3rd semester) in their FIRST academic program (including summer). Students who are accepted into two programs at the same time must complete their Flex Dual Degree proposal when they begin the programs.

Late proposals will not be accepted. For more information about flexible dual degrees, please see the flexible dual degree instructions on the Office of Graduate Studies website.

Graduation Requirements

ALL of the following MUST be completed in order to graduate. It is a student’s responsibility to ensure that they have met all the requirements for graduation by the necessary deadlines. The following steps are in the order in which they should be completed.

Approval of Final Program Statement
Before a student applies for graduation they must have their final Program Statement approved and signed by both the IIC Director or an IIC advisor and the IIC Faculty Liaison at Korbel. Once this has been completed, students must submit the final program statement with all the signatures to the IIC /MFJS Communications Specialist.

Completion of Tool Requirements
In order to be advanced to candidacy students must show (in their final program statement) that they have or will have completed ALL of the IIC tool requirements before they wish to graduate. The three tool requirements are:
- Proof of Proficiency in a Foreign Language (two quarters prior to graduation)
- Research Methods course
- Internship or Thesis

Advancement to Candidacy
Once the approved final program statement has been submitted to the IIC /MFJS Communications Specialist, students will be advanced to candidacy. Students will be notified of their advancement to candidacy once the paperwork is complete (about 2-3 weeks later). Students may also apply for graduation at that time. The final program statement must be submitted at the beginning of the quarter before the quarter in which they wish to graduate (students intending to graduate at the end of spring quarter must submit in January, at the beginning of winter quarter).

Application for Graduation
Once a student has been advanced to candidacy, they can apply for graduation. THE APPLICATION MUST BE SUBMITTED TO GRADUATE STUDIES AT LEAST ONE QUARTER BEFORE THE INTENDED DATE OF GRADUATION. Failure to meet the deadline will result in a delay of graduation until the following quarter. Step-by-step instructions are available online. The Application for Graduation MUST be signed by the director of the IIC Program before it can be submitted to Graduate Studies by the necessary deadline. If a student applies for graduation and then chooses to defer until another quarter they must inform the Office of Graduate Studies and file a new application.

Students may graduate in any quarter, although commencement ceremonies are held in June (end of spring) and August (end of summer) only. Students who graduate during other quarters may arrange to participate in a later ceremony by visiting the Registrar’s website and clicking on the “Graduate Request to Participate in Ceremony” link at the bottom of the page.

Instructions concerning commencement ceremonies in June and August and the obtaining of caps, gowns and hoods are available on the Office of the Registrar’s website. In the quarter before they plan to graduate, IIC Peace Corps Fellows students may request a special US Peace Corps sash, available from the MFJS/IIC Communications Specialist.

The student must assume full responsibility for meeting the basic requirements and deadlines set forth in the graduate studies bulletin, as well as the specific requirements as outlined by the specific program.

Student Resources

IIC Council
The IIC Council is a platform for students to organize with others to plan or participate in various activities related to the IIC program. Past activities of the council include organizing panels at departmental or DU conferences such as the DU Diversity Summit or DU Internationalization Summit, planning and launching an international film festival or other cultural activities, and organizing and hosting a table at the DU Culture Fest in Spring Quarter, etc. The Council meets once per quarter, and has two coordinators (students who volunteer) organize and run the meetings, take minutes, follow up on project plans, etc.

Anderson Academic Commons
The Anderson Academic Commons brings together the University of Denver’s top library and academic support services in one place to support and enhance how students learn. The building is the campus... centerpiece for collaborative, technology infused teaching, learning and engagement.

The resources and services of University Libraries are developed and maintained primarily for members of the University of Denver community. All DU students, faculty, and staff have unrestricted access to collections and services as well as a range of borrowing privileges. A valid university ID is required to borrow material from the Library. The Lending Desk is located at the south end of Anderson Academic Commons (main level) and is open every hour that the Main Library is open.

Quick Copy Center
The University Quick Copy Center is located in the DU Bookstore in the Driscoll University Center South. Staff can assist with general photocopy needs as well as presentation binding and assembly and large format printing. To learn more, visit their website.

Bookstore
The DU Bookstore has many resources for students, including text books and text book rentals, apparel and accessories, collectibles and gifts, technology, and school supplies. Visit this website for information about hours.

Graduate Student Government
The Graduate Student Government is a council of all the Graduate Student Associations (GSAs) at the University of Denver. The GSG has two goals:

- To foster a sense of community among the graduate students.
- To represent that community and its interests at DU.

GSC is the DU graduate community’s representative student government body. As the representative, it is here to serve students and advocate for their interests and concerns. Visit the GSC website.

Graduate Students of the Four Faculties
Graduate Students of the Four Faculties (GSFF) is a graduate student-run organization at the University of Denver. Overall, GSFF has two main goals. The first goal of this organization is to help graduate students, in the departments of Arts and Humanities, Social Sciences, Natural Sciences and Math, and Engineering and Computer Science, fund their conference endeavors. The funding that is partially reimbursed to graduate students each quarter helps to ease the financial expenses that most conferences create due to the combined costs of airfare, hotel, and numerous conference fees. GSFF is here to help ease that financial burden as much as they can. The second goal of GSFF is to discuss and/or address any issues that may arise pertaining to graduate students’ needs at DU.

The IIC Program MUST have a GSFF representative in order for IIC students to be eligible for funding. In addition to discussing and addressing these issues, a member of the GSFF Executive Council attends all GSG (Graduate Student Government) meetings (usually once per quarter) to voice any concerns and/or issues that GSFF (including the graduate students represented by GSFF) has and wants to express. Please feel free to contact one of the GSFF officers or the IIC GSFF representative for further information.

Visit the GSFF webpage on Portfolio.

Faculty Biographies
Josef Korbel School of International Studies Faculty (who teach courses of interest to many IIC students)

Rebecca Galemba
Ph.D., Brown University
Rebecca is a lecturer at JKSIS where she teaches courses on informal and illicit networks, globalization, and development. Her research focuses additionally on Latin America, legal anthropology, and immigration and transnationalism.

Sally Hamilton
Ph.D., University of Kentucky
Sally is an Associate Professor and the Director of the MA Program in International Development at Korbel. Her research explores the anthropology of Latin America and the economic, socio-political, and environmental outcomes of sustainable development agendas promoted by bilateral and multilateral development organizations, nation states, and the private sector.
Micheline Ishay
Ph.D., Rutgers University
A professor at the Graduate School of International Studies, Micheline teaches courses in human rights and political theory. She also researches international relations, U.S. foreign policy, comparative politics, and Middle Eastern politics.

Thomas Rowe
Ph.D., University of California, Berkeley
Thomas is an associate Professor of International Relations at the Graduate School of International Studies, and Director of the International Career Advancement Program (ICAP) at the University of Denver where he has been on the faculty since 1974. He previously served for nine years as Dean of GSIS, for five years as Associate Dean of GSIS, for nine years as Director of the Social Science Foundation at the university and for six years as Director of the National Resource Center in International Studies. He has lectured on international organization, human rights, international peacekeeping and conflict and conflict resolution across the United States and in Germany, Ghana and Costa Rica.

Tim Sisk
Ph.D., George Washington University
Tim is the Director for the Center for 21st Century Global Governance. He is also on the faculty of the Master of Arts Program in Conflict Resolution. Tim works on the “Dilemmas of Democratization in War-Torn Societies” project with the University of Uppsala’s Peace and Conflict Research program, funded by the United States Institute of Peace and Sweden’s Vetenskapsrådet (Social Science Council). The project explores the evident dilemmas in transitions from war to democracy in deeply divided societies emerging from violent conflict.

Media, Film & Journalism Studies
Faculty
Renee Botta
Ph.D., University of Wisconsin
Renee teaches graduate classes in public relations, quantitative research methods, media effects and audience behavior. Her research focuses on theoretical frameworks to understand how adolescents process, interpret and are affected by media, and on the social and health implications of communication for adolescents and adults.

Christof Demont-Heinrich
Ph.D., University of Colorado, Boulder
Christof teaches classes in international communication, media, culture and language as well as courses in journalism. His research interests include linguistic and cultural dimensions of globalization, transnational and national identity, and the relation between media discourse and hegemony.

Nadia Kaneva
Ph.D., University of Colorado, Boulder
Nadia teaches classes in strategic communication, media and cultural studies. Her research draws on critical theories to explore the commercialization of culture, politics, and identities. Her regional focus is on post-socialist Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union. Nadia has published extensively on nation branding and on post-socialist cultural change.

Erika Polson
PhD., Pennsylvania State University
Erika teaches classes in strategic communications and public relations and serves as the Internship Director for MFJS graduate and undergraduate students. Her research focuses broadly and critically on socio-cultural change in relation to globalization, and specifically on globalizing middle classes and media as intersecting sites for analyzing such changes.

Margie Thompson
Director, M.A. in International & Intercultural Communication
Ph.D., University of Wisconsin, Madison
Margie teaches courses on global and intercultural communication; culture, race, gender & global communication; global and multicultural strategic communications, multicultural journalism, and communication and immigration. Her research & media production work focus issues of gender, race related to international feminist and indigenous movements; globalization and media; immigration; alternative and multicultural journalism; and war, peace & justice issues, focusing in particular on Central America.

Margie also works as a journalist and photographer for ESCRIBANA, a global women’s media & communications organization produced in Central America and the United States.
