Media student connects Muslims and non-Muslims through international multimedia initiative

After one conversation with Katie Cook, media, film and journalism studies graduate student, you know that she is passionate – passionate about her research and passionate about people. Cook transforms passion into purpose by connecting unlikely individuals in diverse locales and facilitating an important dialogue. Learn More

Students past and present collaborate with professor on DU Project F.I.L.M.

Sheila Schroeder brought together a number of current and former DU film studies and production students as part of DU Project F.I.L.M., an effort that is producing an award-winning original screenplay written by Schroeder titled, "Happy F-rng Valentine’s Day!" The film was shot during December and is currently in post production.

Looking Within: Reflecting on My Experience in IIC by Xiaoyi Zhu, IIC grad student

Graduation date is approaching. It is a good time to look back and reflect upon my experience at the University of Denver, as I am finishing up my master’s program in International and Intercultural Communication (IIC). People often ask me, "So, what is it?" when they first learn about IIC. Learn More

CHAIR’S CORNER
MFJS: Planning our Future

The Department of Media, Film, and Journalism Studies is buzzing with activity. In addition to teaching close to 500 students in 32 classes this Spring, we’re holding our annual Estlow Lecture and Margolin Distinguished Family Lecturer events, participating in the university’s Internationalization and Women’s Summits, and so much more.

FACULTY SPOTLIGHT
Film professor captures essence of national parks through creative photography and digital painting

For Rodney Buxton, the art of filmmaking is about much more than the final product, it’s about the process. He also applies this principle to his creative pursuits, including a growing passion for photography and digital painting. Learn more

STAY CONNECTED

- MFJS Calendar
- MFJS Website
- The Estlow Center
- Internship Opportunities
- Graduate Programs
- Undergraduate Programs
- Email us at MFJS@du.edu

SHARE YOUR NEWS

Tell us about your career and personal accomplishments,
ALUMNI PROFILE
Q&A with Orange is the New Black, Writer/Producer
Jim Danger Gray is most acclaimed for his career as an established writer and producer in Hollywood, but his status as a University of Denver alumnus is nearly as exciting to our department. Examples of Gray’s work include Orange is the New Black, Hannibal (TV Series), High Moon, Torchwood, In Plain Sight, Pushing Daisies, and Crossing Jordan. Learn more

MFJS SHOWCASE
Recent faculty achievements
MFJS faculty are busy with research, writing, special lectures and presentations around the world, awards and other honors. Read more about our recent achievements. Learn more

FEATURED EVENT
Estlow/Margolin Lecturer Lourdes Garcia-Navarro:
Parallel Lives: Stories from an Interconnected World
On April 14 and 15, the University welcomes National Public Radio International Correspondent Lourdes Garcia-Navarro to campus. Garcia-Navarro has been reporting on the Zika virus in South America. Learn more

SAVE THE DATE!
Don't miss our MFJS Film Showcase on June 2. Learn more

INNOVATIONS IN MEDIA & COMMUNICATIONS CLASS FIELD TRIP
The MFJS Innovations in Media & Communications class took a field trip to Thrive Ballpark, a workplace that gives local entrepreneurs in the IT and entertainment industries a creative and comfortable place to work collaboratively.