Every year, undergraduate and graduate Film Studies & Production students work with faculty and each other to create original films on a topic of their choice. Students pitch the idea, write the script, find the actors, produce, direct, edit, and ultimately present their final products to the faculty and their peers. At the end of Spring Quarter, each of these films will be screened at the annual InShort Film Showcase here on the University of Denver's campus. 24 students are involved in this year's two-quarter Documentary Film course, led by Associate Professor Sheila Schroeder and Visiting Assistant Professor Taylor Nygaard.

Students, family, friends, faculty, staff, and alumni are all welcome to join us at the Showcase on Thursday, June 8, 2017. Light refreshments will be provided. No registration is necessary.

What: InShort Student Film Showcase
When: Thursday, June 8, 2017
Where:
Reception:
Room 286, Sturm Hall
2000 E. Asbury Ave.
Denver, CO 80208
Screening:
Davis Auditorium, Sturm Hall
2000 E. Asbury Ave.
Denver, CO 80208
Time: 6:30 p.m. Reception
7:30 p.m. Screening Begins

Videos from past years can be viewed here: Student Showcase: InShort.