1 INTRODUCTION

From time to time, University employees may receive official legal documents notifying the University of the commencement of a lawsuit or agency proceeding, requiring that the University produce copies of records related to court or agency proceedings, or requiring the University to take other action. These documents may take various forms, including summonses, subpoenas, search warrants, other court orders, and other notices from official personnel/entities. The documents may be issued by federal, state, county, city, or other governmental offices, or they may come from a process server, an attorney, or other individual.

2 POLICY

- A. The Vice Chancellor for Business and Financial Affairs is the registered agent for the University. All subpoenas, service of process, and other legal papers should be directed to that office. This applies to subpoenas, complaints, writs, court notices, and every other kind of legal process.
- B. If a person is trying to serve legal process on the University or any division of the University, the employee should refuse to accept it and should refer the process server or individual attempting to deliver such papers to the Vice Chancellor for Business and Financial Affairs.
- C. If a person is trying to serve legal process on an employee who is named personally in the matter, the employee may accept the service. The employee should then contact the Office of the University Counsel immediately.

- D. If legal process is received any other way (e.g., by mail or fax), the employee should deliver it immediately to the Office of the University Counsel.
- E. In certain circumstances, the University Counsel is authorized to waive formal service of process and to accept process on behalf of the University. The University Counsel may establish procedures for waiver of formal service of process.

Any questions regarding services of process should be referred to the Office of the University Counsel.
