

Jackson/Ho China-East Asia Forum
Friday, January 11th, 2008

“Unlocking Modern China History: Chiang Kai-shek Diaries, 1918-1945”

Dr. Tai-Chun Kuo

Tai-chun Kuo is Research Fellow at Hoover Institution, Stanford University. Prior to this position, she was a Visiting Lecturer at Center for East Asian Studies, Stanford University (2003) and Associate Professor at the Graduate Institute of American Studies, Tamkang University (Taiwan, 1997-2000). She served as Press Secretary to the ROC President (1990-1995), Deputy Director-General of the First Bureau of the Presidential Office (1989-1997), Director of the ROC Government Information Office in Boston (1987-1988).

In addition to researches, since 2003, she has assisted the Hoover Institution Archives to develop its Modern China Archives and Special Collections which includes the archives of the Kuomintang (Nationalist) party, diaries of Chiang Kai-shek and Chiang Ching-kuo, personal papers of T.V. Soong, H. H. K'ung, and other leading Chinese individuals.

Her major publications include T.V. Soong in Modern Chinese History, China's Quest for Unification, National Security, and Modernization, Breaking with the Past: China's First Market Economy, Watching Communist China, 1949-79: A Methodological Review of China Studies in the United States of America and Taiwan, The Power and Personality of Mao Tse-tung, etc.

美中合作中心

This event is made possible by the William Sharpless Jackson, Jr. Endowment

美国东亚合作研究所

