Using approaches made possible with breakthroughs in materials analysis, archaeologists are coming to a new understanding of metallurgy and the role of metal artifacts in the lives of past peoples. In this talk Bonnie Clark of the DU Anthropology Department, will present several case studies of the how 21st Century archaeologists study this important class of data.

HOST: Dr. Barry Zink, (303) 871-3025, barry.zink@du.edu