

Temporary ACADEMIC ACCOMMODATIONS

Disability Services Program (DSP) provides accommodations at no cost to any student who has a documented disability/medical condition as required by the Americans with Disabilities Act (Amendments Act) and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act.

TEMPORARY academic accommodations may be granted for students with temporary documented disabilities/medical conditions, such as broken limbs/hands; concussions; acute stress disorder or post-traumatic stress disorder. Third-party (medical/psychological professional) documentation may be required.

Typically, temporary accommodations are granted for the duration of the condition or no more than one quarter/semester.

Temporary or Provisional Accommodations may include but are not limited to:

- ◆ Extended time testing
- ◆ Alternate format text
- ◆ Note-takers
- ◆ Extensions on Assignments &/or Extra Absences (when needed & appropriate)

Often the reasons for temporary or provisional accommodations are not evident to others; DSP does not disclose the reasons for accommodations to instructors or anyone who does not have a legitimate educational need to know.

DSP does need to have an understanding of the reasons you need accommodations (academic/classroom, housing, or campus activities) therefore you will need to provide basic information on the Student Intake form attached. Fill out and return to DSP with appropriate documentation. Documentation guidelines can be found on the DSP website at www.du.edu/disability/dsp.

Please contact DSP if you have any questions regarding the accommodation process.

The University of Denver holds these requests and information private. Only DSP and departments that have a direct need to know will be aware of your enrollment in DSP and use of accommodations, not the reason why. Use of accommodations is not included in your permanent academic records.
