

Israeli Immigrant Teens: Educational Contexts & Social Identity

Dr. Doly Levi's research and teaching focuses on issues of multiculturalism, globalism and immigration. Her work includes research on the social assimilation of immigrant children and youth in Israel, and, as part of her dedication to fostering global dialogues, Dr. Levi has developed international collaborative programs between students studying in Israel and students studying Hebrew abroad.

October 12, 2015

6:30-8:00pm, Sturm Hall 286

2000 E. Asbury Ave., Denver, CO, 80210

with Visiting Israeli Scholar

Dr. Doly Levi, Head of the International School of Education at Levinsky College (Tel Aviv, Israel)

Co-Sponsored by the Center for Judaic Studies
With support from the Marsico Visiting Scholars Program at DU

CENTER FOR JUDAIC STUDIES

