b. July/August 2012 <http://blog.nafsa.org/2012/07/10/the-power-of-one/> Nobel Laureate Lemyah Gbowee's moving speech at the conference reminded us that leaders like Mahatma Ghandi, Nelson Mandela, Martin Luther King Jr., and Rosa Parks were individuals who stood up for their beliefs and their actions made the difference in a historical moment that influenced not only their own generation but those to come after...Whether it is lobbying for immigration reform for undocumented students, advocating for internationalization efforts on campus, encouraging a reluctant student to study abroad, or making the personal effort to help an international student or scholar succeed, let us “unfold” our arms, raise our voice, and be the shining example to our campus communities of the difference one person can make.
