

Application for Special Honors Funding

Providing supplemental funding for academic research and thesis costs

Members of the University Honors Program who are embarked on research for the thesis or other approved academic project may apply to the University Honors Program for funds to support the costs of books, travel, research materials, etc. The award is usually up to $1,000.

Please sign and date this application and include the following:

- A copy of the APR and any other information necessary to show that you are meeting the requirements of the Honors Program, including the minimum GPA for your entrance year, progress in the Honors sequence of courses, and your major's distinction plan (if relevant).
- Receipts for the costs for which you are requesting support or a detailed budget including expected itemized costs and other sources of support
- A 1-2 page single spaced description of you project. This should include the signature of your advisor or faculty participant; the project's place in your academic requirements and plans; and the timeline of expected completion.
