

Support and Student Services

DU's Career Services program provides practical advice and useful tools to help students and alum choose, change, or develop their career path. Services on campus include:

- Exploring career options and finding the right fit for particular passions and aspirations.
- Developing resumes and cover letters.
- Connecting with top employers across a variety of fields.
- Search for internships and jobs.

Some units at DU have their own career centers, including:

- The University of Denver Office of Academic Advising:
 - General advising
 - Policies and procedures
 - Domestic minority student advising
 - International student advising
- Office of Career and Professional Development \(Josef Korbel School of International Studies, Graduate Students\)
- Office of Career and Professional Development \(Sturm College of Law\)
- Suits Graduate Career Center \(Daniels College of Business\)
- Taylor Family Undergraduate Career Center \(Daniels College of Business\)

Unlike many other higher education institutions, the University of Denver has two programs that provide support for students with disabilities:

- The Learning Effectiveness Program \(LEP\) is a comprehensive, fee-for-service program that provides academic support services beyond basic academic accommodations.
- The Disability Services Program \(DSP\) is a no-cost program that facilitates delivery of basic accommodations to undergraduate and graduate/law students with documented disabilities.

Resources for Teaching and Learning

There are several offices and organizations that support teaching, learning, and academic initiatives on Campus. Here are just a few:
