

Crossley Public Opinion Research Scholarship

Thanks to the generous support of a friend of the Josef Korbel School, the Crossley Public Opinion Endowed Scholarship was created to help Korbel students gain a background and experience in public opinion research.

Scholarship recipients may pursue any MA degree at the Korbel School, but will be required to take elective credits in survey research methodology, international public opinion and American public opinion related to foreign affairs.

One scholarship in the amount of $10,000 will be awarded to an incoming student at the Josef Korbel School. Along with the tuition scholarship, recipients will be awarded internship funding to ensure they gain practical skills and work experience in the public opinion field.

To apply for the scholarship, please complete an application to the University of Denver's Josef Korbel School. Applicants will also be asked to submit an additional essay question (essay question announced in January).

For more information, contact 303-871-2989 or brad.miller@du.edu.