

Master of Arts/Juris Doctor (MA/JD) Dual Degree Program

This dual degree program combines a three year law school education from the Sturm College of Law with a full year (forty-five credits) of training in any of the six MA programs offered at the Josef Korbel School of International Studies. Candidates must apply and be accepted to both schools to be considered a dual degree student.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

International Studies Core: Two courses (10 credits)

- INTS 4900 International Politics
- INTS 4501 Comparative Politics-States and Societies in the 21st Century
- INTS 4324 International Political Economy
- INTS 4820 Ancient Political Theory
- INTS 4821 Early Modern Political Theory
- INTS 4822 Contemporary Political Theory
- INTS 4601 Ethics and International Relations

Field: Four courses (20 credits) in a single field as specified below:

International Politics

- INTS 4900 International Politics
- One course chosen from the list of Advanced International Politics courses
- Two other courses in International Politics

Comparative Politics

- INTS 4501 Comparative Politics: States and Societies in the 21st Century
- One course from the list of Advanced Comparative Policy courses
- Two other courses in Comparative Politics

International Political Economy

- INTS 4310 International Trade
- INTS 4320 International Monetary Relations
- INTS 4324 Introduction to International Political Economy
- One additional course in International Political Economy

Political Theory

- INTS 4515 Political Theory and the Rise of Political Economy
- INTS 4820 Ancient Political Theory
- INTS 4821 Early Modern Political Theory
- INTS 4822 Contemporary Political Theory, or
- INTS 4601 Ethics and International Affairs

Concentration: (0-20 credits) One concentration, such as International Development, International Security, Human Rights, Conflict Resolution, Global Health, Policy Analysis, Environmental Policy, Technology Policy or Homeland Security, etc.

Foreign Language: Required

Electives: Electives to reach a total of 45 Josef Korbel School credits.

ADMISSIONS

Applicants to the Master of Arts/Juris Doctor (MA/JD) dual degree program must submit applications to both the Josef Korbel School of International Studies and the Sturm College of Law. Applicants must be accepted to both schools to pursue the dual degree.

For more information on the Josef Korbel School application process and deadlines, contact the Office of Graduate Admissions by calling 303.871.2544 or emailing korbeldm@du.edu.

For more information on the Sturm College of Law application process and deadlines, contact the Office of Admissions by calling 303.871.6135 or emailing admissions@law.du.edu.

ADVISORS

International Studies Advisor; Susan Rivera, surivera@du.edu

Law School Advisor; Susan Erlenborn, serlenb2@du.edu

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

For more information, please consult the Josef Korbel School of International Studies MA Handbook and/or the Sturm College of Law website.

Students currently enrolled at the Sturm College of Law must submit the Josef Korbel School application within their first two semesters. Applications submitted after this deadline will be rejected.

Students currently enrolled at the Josef Korbel School are encouraged to submit applications to the Sturm College of Law by March 1.

Note: If the first degree is completed prior to the second degree, the student must complete the second degree within the next 18 months.

*This description is not binding. For the most comprehensive and updated program descriptions and requirements, please review the MA Handbook on the Josef Korbel School website and information on the Sturm College of Law website.