☐ Apply Online / Application Deadlines

- Applications for graduate study in International and Intercultural Communication at the University of Denver must be submitted online. To apply online, visit: https://du-grad.edu.185r.net/application.
- All online materials must be submitted, and all supplemental materials must be postmarked, by the program’s priority deadline: January 1, for international students seeking fall quarter admission; and, February 15 for domestic students seeking fall quarter admission. Applications are accepted after the priority deadlines if space is available. Applicants for winter and spring quarters should have their applications complete at least two months prior to the start of the quarter.
- A $65 non-refundable application fee is required for an application to be processed. Application fee waivers are available for McNair Scholars.

☐ Course and Degree Prerequisites and Requirements

- Proof of a bachelor’s, and, if applicable, a master’s degree is required from a regionally accredited college or university.

☐ Transcripts

- Applicants are required to submit an official transcript from each post-secondary institution they have attended, or are presently attending, where two quarter hours (or one semester hour) or more were completed including study abroad and college coursework completed in high school.
- The applicant is responsible for obtaining all transcripts. DU students and alumni do not need to provide DU transcripts. Applicants who have earned a degree outside the U.S. must submit transcripts accompanied by certified English translations, if not normally issued in English.
- Official study abroad transcripts are required unless the course titles, grades and credit earned abroad appear on another transcript. Transcripts from outside of the U.S. are evaluated by the Office of International Student Admission. This process can take three to four weeks and must be complete by the program’s stated deadline. Therefore, applicants with a degree from outside of the U.S. are encouraged to apply early. Applicants educated outside the U.S. are encouraged to contact the Office of Graduate Studies for assistance regarding transcript-related materials.
- The University of Denver will consider electronic transcripts official from a domestic institution provided by the following approved agencies: Army/American Council on Education Registry Transcript System (AARTS); Docufide/Parchment; National Student Clearinghouse; Naviance; Royall and Company; and, Scrip-Safe.

□ LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY

• Official scores from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or International English Language Testing System (IELTS) are required of all graduate applicants, regardless of citizenship status, whose native language is not English or who have been educated in countries where English is not the native language. Applications will not be processed until the required TOEFL or IELTS score is received. The TOEFL and IELTS scores are valid for two years from the test date. The minimum TOEFL score accepted by the International and Intercultural Communication program at DU is 105 (iBT) or 620 (paper-based). The institution code for the University of Denver is 4842. The minimum IELTS score accepted is 7.5. Applicants must also achieve a minimum 4.5 TWE or 27 writing (iBT) or 8.0 IELTS writing. Graduate Teaching Assistants (GTAs) must demonstrate fluency in spoken English by scoring a 26 on the TOEFL speaking section or 8.0 on the IELTS speaking section. Please see the Graduate Policy Manual for complete English language proficiency requirements.

• Applicants may be exempted from English proficiency test requirements if by the time of matriculation they have earned a post-secondary degree from a formally-recognized/accredited university where the language of instruction and examination is English. Such applicants may be exempt from the TOEFL/IELTS requirement but not from other standardized graduate entrance examinations.

• Applicants to International and Intercultural Communication whose native language is not English and who may be exempted from the English proficiency test requirements based on their academic degree credentials are strongly encouraged to submit TOEFL and TWE scores. Submission of these scores will strengthen the application.

□ CANDIDATE STATEMENT

• A personal statement of academic and professional goals and objectives is required. Include how those goals and objectives relate to international and intercultural communication. The statement should be submitted via upload through the online application process.

□ RECOMMENDATION LETTERS

• Three letters of recommendation are required. Academic references are preferred, although professional references may also be submitted. These letters should be solicited and uploaded by recommenders through the online application system. Letters must be received by the program’s stated deadline.

□ FINANCIAL SUPPORT

• To be considered for financial support, domestic applicants should apply early and submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) by the priority deadline, February 15.

• Information about financial aid can be found on the Office of Financial Aid website (www.du.edu/apply/gradfinaid). International students are not eligible for federal financial aid.

• Departmental financial support is primarily merit-based aid, such as graduate scholarships, as well as a limited amount of need-based grant aid. For consideration, all online materials must be submitted, and all supplemental materials must be postmarked, by the program’s stated deadlines.

• Peace Corps Paul D. Coverdell Fellows Program: Returning Peace Corps volunteers (RPCV) may earn their MAs in international and intercultural communication and apply for specific financial aid awards. RPCVs also receive 10 hours of academic credit for their Peace Corps service, which means they can take 50 hours of course work rather than the 60 hours required for the general IIC degree. IIC/RPCVs have the same requirements as general IIC degree students, but the language requirement is waived and RPCVs complete a 5-credit internship in the United States within a “high-need” community.
