

Small Biz Boot Camp for Entrepreneurs, Freelancers, Clinicians and Non-Profit Innovators

Terri Finney, Psy.D.

Dr. Finney is a graduate of Graduate School of Professional Psychology at the University of Denver, having enjoyed over 25 years as a psychologist in private practice. She has worked as a clinician, as well as working in the areas where psychology and law intersect; and in the areas where business and psychology intersect. In the last five years her focus has shifted toward coaching and consulting with entrepreneurs and start-up teams. Her undergraduate major in Business and her certification as an Executive Coach have stood her well in her own business transition. She founded Startup Wellbeing as a vehicle to educate and support entrepreneurs as they negotiate the emotional and behavioral aspects of starting a business. Her superpower is in optimizing the human capital in business and in life.
