

Native American Community Scholarship Application

The Native American Community Scholarship is available to first-year, full-time, degree-seeking students committed to involvement in a Native American community. This scholarship covers the standard cost of tuition, fees, room and board, and books. While service to and involvement in the Native American community are the guiding principles of this award, a holistic review of your admission application assists our committee in making selections. Financial need will also be considered, therefore please ensure you have submitted the FAFSA, CSS Profile, and/or other financial aid requirements requested of you.

Recipients of the Native American Community Scholarship are notified in early April. Please note that applicants with financial need who are not awarded the Native American Community Scholarship may be considered for a full tuition scholarship based on this application. To be considered for this funding, you have to submit the FAFSA, CSS Profile, and/or other financial aid requirements requested of you.

DEADLINE TO APPLY: Friday, March 12, 2021. Mailed applications must be postmarked by this date.

Submissions may be emailed to Amy.Folse@du.edu or mailed to the following address:
