

Academic Support

Jobs within the Academic Support job family provide services and support that are related to one or more of the following areas: enhancing the academic environment for students, supporting the college/school with academic programs and classes; and, providing research administration. Employees provide assistance with, direct, or administer academic functions which aid in the support of undergraduate, graduate, and faculty programs, including the design, development, implementation and/or evaluation of programs. These jobs are located within an academic unit within the University.

Sample job titles might include: Instructional Designer, Curriculum Specialists, Assistant Deans, Program Coordinator – Graduate Studies, Grant Specialists, etc.