

Athletics and Recreation

These positions support programs and activities that enable students to participate in interscholastic and on-campus athletics and recreational programs. This job family includes positions that manage or administer intramural and club programs; manage athletic facilities; provide program support for major athletic programs, and coaching positions.

These jobs are typically located in athletic facilities and often require the incumbent to have broad knowledge of at least one sport or athletic interest area.

The majority of positions in the Athletics and Recreation job family require some college or university education. Frequently, prior formal playing or coaching experience is required. Rarely will positions in this job family require a terminal degree.
