Admission Standards

- To be considered for admission, students must have a competitive GPA in coursework that demonstrates a commitment to academic success. Transfer applicants with the greatest chance of being admitted generally have a GPA of at least 3.0 or a B average with no grades of D or F in their previous college coursework.

Transfer Credit Evaluation

- Credit evaluations are completed for admitted transfer students only. Credit is eligible for transfer consideration from a college or university that is U.S. regionally accredited or formally recognized by the Ministry of Education in the country of origin. Official transcripts from previous institutions will be evaluated on an individual basis after a student has been admitted. For details, please visit: bit.ly/DUintlTRANSFERguide.

English Conditional Admission

- The University of Denver offers English Conditional Admission (ECA) to academically admissible applicants who do not submit the required TOEFL, IELTS, or CAE score. This means ECA students who complete our English Language Center (<https://www.du.edu/elc/>) curriculum may begin their degree programs without a test score.
- Students applying from an accredited college or university where English is the universal language of instruction may be waived from proof of English proficiency if they have completed at least 30 transferable semester credits or have successfully completed English Composition I and English Composition II.

Scholarships

- All undergraduate applicants are automatically considered for merit-based scholarships and there is no special form to complete. We offer partial tuition merit-based scholarships to all qualified undergraduate applicants. These awards range from $14,000-$18,000 per year for each year of undergraduate study. However, since the cost of a University of Denver education is approximately $73,000 per year, even our highest merit-based scholarship leaves a considerable portion for the student's family to pay. U.S. Federal financial aid is not available to international students.
