J. H. Twinam and Associates

DESCRIPTION

J. H. Twinam and Associates provides custom-designed organizational development services to non-profit and for-profit organizations in both the public and private sectors. Services include organizational assessment and intervention, strategic planning, program evaluation, training, facilitation, mediation and management coaching.

This independent consulting organization focuses on capacity building and strategic development of governance and management teams. J. H. Twinam and Associates is values-based and believes strongly in helping organizations define and enact their missions.

HISTORY AND EXPERIENCE

J. H. Twinam and Associates was established in 1981. Initially, projects such as the development of Shalom Park (now Shalom Cares) were focused in the health care sector, given June Twinam’s previous employment experience. She moved to Colorado in 1978 to become Director of the Central Northeast Health Systems Agency and later was Director of Planning at Rose Medical Center.

With the advent of managed care, June’s focus shifted and she began to provide consulting services to organizations in other sectors. Clients have included Fortune 100 companies such as AT&T, public sector units such as the Denver Board of Ethics, and major nonprofits such as Stapleton Development Corporation.

June has an extensive academic background which began at Tulane University. She currently teaches multiple courses in several programs at Regis University (CPS Undergraduate business, Graduate: MNM and School for Health Services Administration and Management) and the University of Denver’s Graduate School of Social Work.

While she has received several formal teaching awards, evaluations of her teaching and training are routinely outstanding. She has developed curricula at both the University of Denver and Regis University as well as other graduate level programs.

June is a frequent presenter at local and national conferences usually with an evaluation, ethics, or strategic planning focus. Examples include a keynote address regarding ethics at the National Conference of Church Business Administrators, and acting as a facilitator for the Leadership Summit for the American Association for Homes and Services for the Aging (Good To Great).

Additionally, June has extensive volunteer experience which operationalizes her commitment to the non-profit sector. Examples include Warren Village Board of Directors (special service award), Forum of the Future for Regis University, and the City Club of Denver.

Her formal education includes a B.A. Cum Laude from Regis College (Weston, Massachusetts), a M.S.W. from Tulane University, and doctoral studies at the University of Denver.
